This is very moving remembrance for poor and vulnerable and harmless people who suffered through no fault of their own, especially people in Hatherop & Kingsmill whom my friend Brian known to tried to protect.

Thank you for the display.

Mr. I. H. E. Clarke.

When you read all the names so many were known to us RSP/Avril, William McAlpine, Joanne, Scott, members of our families, and other well-known families it was all very moving & depressing.

A moving tribute to all those killed in the troubles. Many of them, friends of mine. These were very dark days which I hope our children and grandchildren never have to live through. And I still ask myself why? It never solved anything. — W. H. Williams

May we all share the blame and look forward to a wonderful future.

Kevin & Valerie Callan

Simple, poignant and moving — thanks for the reminder that this is our generations' loss and sadness not the distant past. Hope for the future is what should guide our current day! — James Hepworth

John Davis 114-12-2014

I John Davis started work in the Ardmore Hotel
Newry back in 1968 to 1972 as a hotel porter.
1969 the Northern Ireland troubles had started.
Ardmore Hotel was bomb, the bomb went of.
When I was in the hotel, luck was on my side that day, that was my first experience of the troubles.
Then I started a new job as a Medical orderly at the border frontline Hospital Daisy Hill Newry Co.Down back in 1973 it was their for 23 years were I witnessed terrible and dreadful horrifying incidents which took place in South Armagh and South Down.
I worked in Accident and Emergency, Operating Theatres, you were in front line all the time with other members of staff.
We carried out our work from all departments of the hospital with professional skill, compassion and dignity to look after those who came through its door from bombings and shooting incidents.
Many lives were saved as a result of their good work, it was good team work with all the staff. I would be also on night duty you also got incidents in the dead of night. My way of dealing with all that happen on that day or night
I would pray for them and their families.
I would have tears, life seemed so very very cruel god bless them all, what was it all for life is very short.
Their was never such thing as counselling back then you just got on with it, they were very bad and dark years.
